What is the SOAT mandatory insurance?

The SOAT protects both occupants of insured vehicles and pedestrians, offering the following coverages:

- Death: Permanent disability: Up to 4 UIT per person (S/ 21,400).
 - Temporary disability: Up to 1 UIT per person (S/ 5,350), calculated as 1/30 of the Minimum Living Wage per day not worked.
 - Medical expenses: Up to 5 UIT per person (S/ 26,750).
 - Funeral expenses: Up to 1 UIT per person (S/ 5,350).
 - Up to 4 UIT per person (S/ 21,400).
- The Mandatory Traffic Accident Insurance (SOAT) is designed exclusively to cover personal injuries resulting from a traffic accident, such as injuries or death of drivers, passengers, or pedestrians involved. It does not cover property damage, such as those suffered by vehicles or other affected assets. To protect against these damages, it is necessary to purchase an additional vehicle insurance policy that provides such coverage.
 - The SOAT is valid throughout the entire national territory and ensures that accident victims receive care in any public or private hospital or clinic. Health centers are required to provide treatment without demanding prior payment, since the insurance company assumes the expenses directly.
 - If you suffer or witness a traffic accident, first prioritize the care of the injured by calling the emergency services: police (105) and firefighters (106). Afterwards, notify the insurance company about the accident. It is essential that the SOAT is valid.
 - The insurance covers drivers, passengers, and pedestrians alike, guaranteeing immediate medical attention regardless of their activity or personal situation.
